

The H2H Network

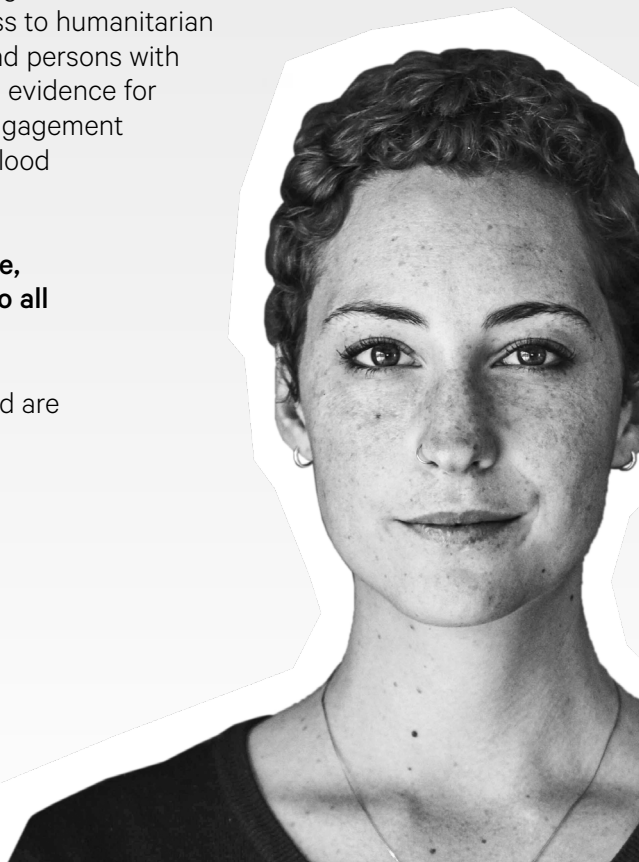

Support package: Floods in Pakistan

In response to the devastating floods in Pakistan, the H2H Network has activated its fund mechanism to strengthen the humanitarian response in the region. The H2H funding will enable four specialised network members to provide services addressing gaps in inclusion, information management and analysis as well as Community Engagement and Accountability.

The service package includes media training and production of life-saving information for the affected population and rapid capacity building to better design and deliver relief. It also enables enhanced access to humanitarian assistance for older persons and persons with disabilities, as well as improved evidence for language-aware community engagement and accountability across the flood response.

As part of the funded package, services are freely available to all responders.

The H2H Network and this fund are supported by UK aid.

Floods in Pakistan

Who?	What?	Contact
CLEAR Global	Improving the evidence basis for language-aware community engagement and accountability. This will be done through making extant language data more accessible, supporting the collection and analysis of new language data, and testing comprehension of existing information and terminology.	Ellie Kemp, ellie.kemp@clearglobal.org
RedR UK	Strengthening local response capacity as well as building resilience and promoting Disaster Risk Reduction. This will be done by providing bite-sized, relevant and short online training modules to improve the effectiveness of the response, followed by a gradual move towards a structured capacity development on resilience and DRR. The data collected will contribute to RedR UK Proof of Concept on its emergency response approach.	Katie Bitten, katie.bitten@redr.org.uk Richard Dietrich, richard.dietrich@redr.org.uk
HelpAge International	Ensuring that older people and persons with disabilities have improved access to life-saving assistance as well as increased resilience. This will be done by strengthening local-level capacity through providing training to humanitarian actors, including organisations of Persons with Disabilities and District administrations.	Anwar Sadat, anwar.sadat@helpage.org
Fondation Hironnelle	Producing and disseminate life-saving content and in-depth reports on the floods via radios stations, online media, television, print and social media throughout 60 districts in the country's four provinces. This includes two-way communication between the affected population and humanitarian aid workers and accountable authorities.	Julie Godignon, Julie.godignon@hironnelle.org

Getting more to people in need

The H2H Network brings together nearly 60 high-quality, independent humanitarian service providers and change agents who enable efficient, impactful and accountable aid during a crisis by facilitating and resourcing humanitarian-to-humanitarian (H2H) services for the wider system.

These independent, cross-cutting services are well-suited to address many of the gaps and challenges that continue to hamper humanitarian action in specific emergencies. Together, these organisations are leading efforts to reform and improve the global humanitarian response.

The H2H Network supports its members by enabling collaboration, fostering community, and allocating resources.

In response to crises, we activate and disburse funds quickly to meet specific needs in the wider humanitarian system, as well as identify and create synergies between our members to ensure collaboration.
